EDITORIAL

We continue to celebrate the 25th anniversary of IADT with Part 2 of the history of the organization, contributed by Leif Bakland, Jens Andreasen and Lars Andersson. The expansion and globalization of IADT highlights the contributions of many individuals across the world who have made IADT a success since its foundation. The final episode Part 3 will be covered in next issue.

The launch of the Fellowship is another exciting new development that seeks to identify and unify leaders in Traumatology across the globe. The first examination is scheduled for June 2015 and applications are open now. Log onto to the IADT Member page at www.iadt-dentaltrauma.org to keep up to date.

It is wonderful to share and acknowledge efforts of IADT community. Thank you, Mohamed Said for help again with this newsletter. Please send news and photographs of your Traumatology activities to be included in the next Newsletter (anne.oconnell@dental.tcd.ie).

Celebrating 25 years of IADT Together

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

Thank you: As this is my first letter as president, I must acknowledge the enormous amount of work put into IADT by our previous president, Lars Andersson. Lars stood up and agreed to lead our Association for a second term when the need arose. He has worked tirelessly and unselfishly for four years. IADT and our journal, Dental Traumatology, have developed hugely under his leadership. We owe him a tremendous debt of gratitude.

Thank you Lars Andersson

After nine highly productive years, during which the quality and the impact factor of the journal improved dramatically, Lars Andersson will step down as editor-in-chief at the end of this year. The new editor-in-chief of Dental Traumatology will be Professor Paul Abbott from Perth, Australia. Members will recognize his name from the dental traumatology literature. Paul has extensive international research and teaching experience and will do a great job as Lars' successor.

New members: It is very heartening to see that 79 new members representing 27 countries joined IADT recently, a fantastic vote of confidence for IADT. As an Association, we must work diligently to recruit new members. I encourage all of you to visit IADT's webpage, familiarize yourself with trauma colleagues in your country, and work together to see how, as national groups, you can further the mission of IADT.

Fellowship now open: I am delighted to report that the Fellowship Program is now up and running. It has been four years since I penned a proposal to the IADT Board about the possibility of implementing such a program. My thanks to Lars Andersson, a great committee, and several executives, as well as to Eben Yancey and the RES administrative team for their creative help, in getting to this stage. My thanks and admiration also to our newest Board Director, Anne O'Connell, and her Fellowship Team for their extraordinary efforts over the past months in putting the final touches on the Fellowship Tab and developing the examination process. It is now up to members to take advantage of this exciting development by logging into your IADT Member page at www.iadt-dentaltrauma.org and navigating to the new Fellowship Tab.

Foundation Fellowship: Using strict criteria, your Board offered Foundation Fellowship status without examination to eminent and long-standing members of the Association in recognition of their significant contributions to IADT and the science of dental traumatology. 50 members have accepted this honor.

World Congress Brisbane, 2016: The Scientific Program Committee, under the leadership of Lamar Hicks (USA) and Stephen Harlamb (AU), have developed a wonderful three-day program. World renowned speakers will present, in sequence, the clinical events and professional activity that occurs over the entire timeline for the dental trauma patient starting with the trauma event, progressing through the evaluation and treatment planning phase, and on to urgent and non-urgent treatment strategies, patient follow up, complications and treatment outcomes. In addition, there will be sessions devoted to educators in dental traumatology, current research, and dental traumatology for the primary dentition, as well as poster and oral research sessions. This will be a conference to remember - August 11-13, 2016, Brisbane, Australia.

A pledge: Finally, it is an honor and a privilege for me to serve as president of IADT for the next two years. I will strive to work closely with our officers and directors to help make this Association an even better one.

Best wishes to all,
Alex Moule President

READY, STEADY, GO.....

ENROLL NOW FOR THE FELLOWSHIP

Log onto the Member page at www.iadt-dentaltrauma.org and check out the Fellowship Tab. The process of eligibility is now streamlined and payment is accepted electronically. Once accepted as 'Eligible' you can plan to sit the first online examination in June 2015. Access to the examination will be through a secure website and the examination must be completed in one sitting within a time limit of two hours. The examination will be in English and will use FDI tooth notation. The title of Fellow of the International Association of Dental Traumatology will be conferred on successful candidates.

I would like to thank all the members of the Fellowship Committee who have put in so much effort to establish eligibility criteria and to develop the examination to date, especially Juan Onetto who has taken the lead on the examination questions.

THE WORLD CONGRESSES 1998-2005: PART II

Leif K. Bakland, Jens Ove Andreasen, Lars Andersson

The Ninth World Congress on Dental Trauma convened in Eilat, Israel on October 20-23, 1998 under the auspices of the IADT and the Israel Association for Prevention and Treatment of Dental Trauma (Fig. 9). Drs. Arieh Kaufman and Eliyahu Mass had arranged an extensive program with practical demonstrations, lectures and a concluding symposium on a proposed IADT classification of root resorptions. A social highlight was an evening cruise on the Gulf of Aqaba in the Red Sea giving the participants an opportunity to see parts of 4 historic countries: Israel, Jordan, Egypt and Saudi Arabia, all converging on a relatively small area of the Red Sea (1).

The largest gathering of attendees for a trauma conference took place in Melbourne, Australia on March 19-21, 1999 when the IADT and Australian Society of Endodontology, Inc. sponsored the Tenth International Conference with the theme of “Dental Injuries and their Impact on Health” under the chairmanship of Dr. Barry Feiglin. The Opening Ceremony, attended by over 750 dental health care providers, featured a most spectacular event: Dr. Jens Ove Andreasen was given the opportunity to demonstrate live how to replant an avulsed tooth right in front of the speaker podium! It was actually a stunt concocted by Dr. Feiglin in which an “audiovisual technician” helping with “failing” microphone, tripped and supposedly knocked out his front tooth. It was a very realistic stunt and it took some time before the audience realized the deception. There were many excellent presentations on ‘Acute Trauma Management’ and the ‘Psychological Effects of Trauma’. The hot topics included the introduction of Emdogain® by Dr. Lars Hammarström as a possible agent for use in root resorptions, and speculation by Dr. Jens Ove Andreasen about various methods for proliferating pulpal vasculature after trauma (thus predicting ‘pulp regeneration’) (2).

Oslo, the capital city of Norway, celebrated its 1000 year anniversary in 2000. IADT members who attended the Eleventh World Congress on Dental Trauma on June 22-24, 2000 joined in the celebrations. Over 300 attendees received current information about evidence-based treatment of dental injuries from about 30 experts, in addition to the many oral and poster presentations.

A large number of dentists representing two organizations, the Academy of Sports Dentistry (ASD) and the IADT, met in Boston, Massachusetts, USA June 20-24, 2001 for a combined meeting of the Twelfth World Congress on Sports Dentistry and Dental Traumatology. The co-chairs, Drs. Martin Trope (IADT) and Jack Winters (ASD) assembled a group of specialists from both disciplines and managed to arrange the 5-day schedule of lectures, oral and poster presentations, workshops, and social events in such a way to provide a full menu of events. It started with a day of current overview of dental trauma by Dr. Jens Ove Andreasen: 'State of the Art in Dental Traumatology for the New Millennium' and concluded on the last day with a workshop on mouth guard fabrication.

Coinciding with becoming President of the IADT, Dr. Marie Therese Flores also served as chair of the Thirteenth World Congress on Dental Traumatology in Santiago, Chile, October 8-10, 2003. With the intriguing theme of 'Networking the Evidence' the more than 600 participants from 23 countries benefitted from excellent presentations by lecturers spanning the globe. Because of its location the congress attracted many dentists from Argentina, Brazil and Chile. The emphasis on acute trauma was intentional to provide educational opportunities in this area of dentistry to many faculty members in new dental schools opening up in many areas of South America. Another area that is sometimes underemphasized is trauma to the primary dentition; that was not neglected at this conference.

Featured speakers at Santiago congress included Mitsuhiro Tsukiboshi, Olle Malmgren, Kyosti Oikarinen, Barbro Malmgren, Anna Fuks, Jens Andreasen, Lars Hammarström, AnnaLena Hallonsten, MarieTherese Flores, Juan Onetto, Asgeir Sigurdsson, Lars Andersson

Returning to Scandinavia, the Fourteenth World Congress on Dental Traumatology invited participants to Iceland on May 5-7, 2005. This small island in the North Atlantic with its Viking heritage provides an opportunity for viewing beauty both in nature and in art. Under the chairmanship of Dr. Asgeir Sigurdsson, an excellent program of lectures and short presentations focused on better understanding of the dynamics of dento-alveolar injuries with the goal of preserving injured tissues and returning patients to high levels of function and esthetics. Coinciding with the year the IADT founding president, Dr. Jens Ove Andreasen would celebrate his 70th birthday (3), it was appropriate at this congress to have Dr. Andreasen summarize from over 50 years of experience in dental trauma the current status of the discipline and pointing to the future of stem cell and regeneration studies.

SPREADING THE NEWS !

INDIA: The Indian Society of Pedodontics and Preventive Dentistry had its 36th Annual Conference in Lucknow, India in October 2014 with over 2000 attendees. The main topic was Dental Traumatology with IADT Past President Lars Andersson as the principal speaker. The organizers were Professors Satyawan Damle, Krishan Gauba, Ashima Goyal and Shoba Tandon. There is an increasing interest in traumatology across India. IADT has increased membership due mainly to the enthusiastic efforts of Dr. Deepak Sharma in Harayana (deepaksharmammu@gmail.com) who is working actively recruiting Indian members.

JAPAN: The Japan Association of Dental Traumatology is celebrating its 15th anniversary this year. Official IADT congratulations was conveyed to Dr. Kimura Mitsutaka, Founder and President, and thanks also to our Japanese colleagues for supporting the IADT in its mission of dental trauma education.

SEYCHELLES: President Alex Moule presented 'An Update on Dental Traumatology' to the First International Dental conference in the Seychelles in March, 2015.

IRAN: The 1st International congress of Dental Traumatic Injuries & The 2nd Symposium of Iranian Association of Endodontists will be held on October 7-9, 2015 Mashhad, Iran.

The Iranian association of Endodontists and Academic Center for Education, Culture & Research, Mashhad branch (ACECR) are to make a stride in terms of familiarizing the regional dental society with dentoalveolar injuries. IADT supports this meeting by recommending keynote speakers including: Prof. J Ove Andreasen, Prof. Lars Andersson, Dr. Alex Moule, Prof. Zafer Çehreli, and Dr. Eva Lauridssen. Iran is the cradle of the Persian Empire, the greatest empire that ever ruled over the ancient world. Mashhad is the second largest city in Iran. Exploring this land with its breathtaking historical sites and dazzling natural attractions will offer an unforgettable experience.

OFFICIAL TRANSLATIONS OF DENTAL TRAUMA GUIDE

Thanks to the wonderful work of the Education Committee, the number of official translations of the IADT Guidelines for the Evaluation and Management of Traumatic Dental Injuries has increased significantly. These documents are open and free to everyone and aimed to serve the dental community worldwide and disseminate knowledge. Additionally, the "Save Your Tooth Posters" for the general public is now available in almost 15 different languages. A huge THANK YOU to our world-wide members that helped with preparing the translated posters. Congratulations to the translators of the Dental Trauma guidelines listed below: translations to Spanish, Portuguese, Chinese (Mandarin) and French are expected over the next year.
